

WHERE LEARNING IS AN ADVENTURE!

Could you create an entire 90 minute comedy show in 6 days?

Follow the creative process in the 'Saturday Night Live - The Experience' exhibition at Chicago's Museum of Broadcast Communications.

Did Ya KNOW?

Every Monday, SNL's creator/producer, cast and writers gather to begin pitching ideas for Saturday's show.

Xtra Fun, Xtra Credit!

For adventurers 7+

Could you be a comedian?

Write some funny stories from your life experience. Test them on your friends and family to see if your stories translate to laughs.

Create your own storyboard!

Using your own character, write a short script and create a storyboard showing how the character would perform the story.

Giggle, Laugh, Perform!

Here's a fun family game that builds creativity and self confidence from our Museum Access Education curated collection of toys, games and projects. Click here to purchase.

Since 1975, prosthetics have been an important part of the SNL toolbox, transforming actors into the iconic characters we have grown to love.

The SNL control room is where all the technical magic happens. Multiple camera angles and audio engineering on multiple sets seamlessly come together to create the final 90 minute comedy show.

For more fun facts and information about Museum Access, go to www.museumaccess.com Or contact us at info@museumaccess.com

©Museum Access Media LLC 2019