Out and About...

Last month, Museum Access's Leslie Mueller met SNL alum Bobby Moynihan at Chicago's Museum of Broadcast Communications. The evening was part of the 'Conversations in Comedy' series that the museum hosted along with the SNL: The Experience Exhibition. "Bobby shared great behind-the-scenes stories about enjoying pizza backstage with Paul McCartney one afternoon (pinching himself afterwards) and voting Bruno Mars and Maroon 5's Adam Levine as two of the nicest musical guests he could remember" said Leslie.

Museums are stepping into the digital age big time!

They are great places for kids to learn by engaging with history, science, nature and the world around them through hands-on exhibits. As seen here taken at The Portland Museum of Art in Portland, Maine.

Behind-the-Scenes

“Exploring the Harley-Davidson Museum in Milwaukee, WI was a learning experience in more ways than one! I learned that my Milwaukee born grandfather, Caleb Randolph actually worked at Harley-Davidson as so many other young men did after returning from serving our country in WWI. Small world right?”

Host, Leslie Mueller
