Not to Miss... Kusama: Cosmic Nature

The New York Botanical Garden comes alive with the spectacular installations across their landscape by Contemporary Japanese artist, Yayoi Kusama. Her lifelong fascination with the natural world inspires her fanciful work that will be on view through Oct. 31st.

Museum Access Moments

Nothing like the sheer scale of what we see at museums as a child that really stick with us right? Thanks for sharing Paul!

E-mail us your favorite Museum Moment for a chance to be featured in our INSIDER newsletter!

A recent study from Berlin Institute of Technology says that the risk of COVID-19 transmission is far lower in museums than in other indoor venues including supermarkets, restaurants and offices. Learn more.

Coming up.....

Virtual Candlelight Vigil on May 13th at 8 p.m. The virtual broadcast will replace the traditional ceremony on the National Mall that draws over 30,000 first responders, surviving families and law enforcement supporters. For more information on the 2021 National Police Week click here.

Behind-the-Scenes: The Museum of International Folk Art in Santa Fe, New Mexico

"As if the Museum of International Folk Art itself is not impressive enough, I was blown away at the incredibly organized and spotless archival areas on the lower level. Rooms full of delightful treasures. Tapestries, tramp art, masks, earthenware, figurines and everything in between from around the world. Each piece categorized, coded and carefully placed on shelves waiting for its future debut in the museum space upstairs."
