

Enjoy this October Edition of the Museum Access INSIDER Newsletter
Hallelujah! We can visit our fave museums both virtually and in person once again so let's go!

Take a Virtual Field Trip with Museum Access

Watch a Museum Access episode on Amazon Video then download our free Educational Fun Sheets for more learning and DIY projects.

We've also created our Classroom Series for at-home learning. The Series includes a virtual museum Field Trip, companion Lesson Plan complete with activities, projects and lesson extensions and more!

Schools & Teachers....Check out our content channel on Discovery Education for a total learning experience from this global leader in standards-aligned curriculum.

Science + History = Fun!

The National Museum of Nuclear Science and History is open and ready for visitors! A Smithsonian affiliate museum, it's a great place to learn the story of the Atomic Age, from nuclear development to today's peaceful uses of nuclear technology. Check out the fun during Nuclear Science Week Oct. 19-23 and upcoming 'Science is Everywhere' camps in November. Check out our visit on Public Television stations nationwide or Amazon Prime anytime. Here's a quick peek at our trailer.

Continue the learning!

This great 'Intro to Engineering Kit' from our curated collection of educational toys includes 25 experiments and building projects for your young Einsteins.

Museum Access Moments

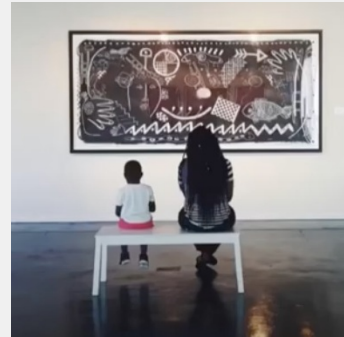

A New Museum that Spreads Happiness

A new museum has opened in Denmark dedicated to, believe it or not, Happiness! In a country that is consistently ranked among the world's happiest it's only fitting that the Happiness Museum is located in Copenhagen, home of the Happiness Research Institute. Learn about the 'History of Happiness', the 'Anatomy of a Smile', visit the 'Happiness Lab' and more. Who couldn't use a little more happiness in their life?

Thanks Ryan! There's nothing like seeing something in person that you've studied in your classroom right? We're very happy that so many U.S. museums have re-opened and are continuing the learning with students of all ages!

Behind-the-Scenes: Chicago WCPT Radio

"What a treat it was to speak with host Joan Esposito on her Live, Local and Progressive radio show about Season 3 of our series. We touched on the wonderful museums I've had the opportunity to visit in her beautiful city and the museum world in general pre-Covid. I'm looking forward to visiting more of Chicago's great museums for upcoming Season 4".
