

HAPPY Holidays

Enjoy your 4th Quarter Edition of the Museum Access INSIDER Newsletter

Give the Gift of Creativity!

Our coloring book continues to inspire kids and adults nationwide. 48 pages filled with images from our museum visits, fun facts, behind-the-scenes peeks and more! Consider ordering our Museum Access approved Deluxe Art Set for an added surprise and hours of creative fun for all ages!

SEASON 6 AIRING NATIONWIDE

This season we explored more of our nation's great museums and learned about so many new topics. From classic cars and submarines to botanic gardens and impressionist painters, international spies and the U.S. Army. We re-visited some wildlife and pre-historic friends and even learned about the interesting paths some of our experts have traveled in their fascinating careers. We hope you enjoy this quick look at our journey and watch full episodes on Public Television/PBS stations nationwide.

MUSEUM ACCESS MOMENT

We love Egyptian history too. Nothing like seeing ancient artifacts in person though right Dee? Thx for sharing your fave Museum Moment!

The Bells Ring Again!

The bells of Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris are ringing once again after the devastating fire in 2019. The December 8th reopening ceremony brought together leaders from around the world to celebrate the remarkable restoration of the 861 year- old cathedral. Bravo to all those that helped in the painstaking process.

OUT AND ABOUT...

An unknown waltz written by Frederic Chopin nearly 200 years ago was recently discovered in the West Room Vault of the Morgan Library and Museum in NYC. He is considered one of the greatest piano composers of the Romantic period and his name was hand-written on a card found with the score. It was likely written when the composer was in his 20's. Check out the trailer from our recent visit to the Morgan Library and Museum.

'Norman Rockwell & Peers: Illustrating Childhood' is on view at the Telfair Museum's Jepson Center in Savannah, GA thru Jan. 5th. What a great family outing over the holidays. See how one of our county's most beloved illustrators shared his view of childhood and an evolving American society. There are over 60 works on loan from another one of our favorite museums, the National Museum of American Illustration.

YOUR SUPPORT TRULY MATTERS!

Your tax-deductible donation to Museum Access helps us continue to bring America's museums into everyone's home on Public Television. It supports our educational programs for students, parents and educators. We are proud to share our series on the on-line DCMP platform offering content for K-12 blind and/or deaf and impaired students nationwide. Please click here to support our mission and THANK YOU for joining the Museum Access journey.

BEHIND – the – SCENES: THE BUSH-HOLLEY HOUSE

"After we explored the American Impressionist collection of paintings at the Bruce Museum in Greenwich, CT, we visited the Greenwich Historical Society / Bush-Holley House right down the road in Cos Cob, CT. According to curator Maggie DiMock, this magical place is where many of the American Impressionists including John Twachtman, J. Alden Weir and Elmer MacRae among others boarded, painted and exchanged ideas as they created this important art movement in America. The gardens were in full bloom during our visit too...lucky us!"
