Honoring Essential Workers

We're heating up Season 4 with our shoot at the NYC Fire Museum learning about the history of firefighting. We also visited the Norwalk Fire Department, Station 2 in CT to learn more about present day firefighting from Assistant Fire Chief Edward McCabe. Stay tuned for updates on Season 4 air dates in early 2022.

Museum Access Moments

Cash for Blank Canvases?

The Kunsten Museum of Modern Art in Denmark loaned artist, Jen Haaning $84,000,000. to create artwork. He returned to the museum with two large blank canvases ready to hang. The work was appropriately titled 'Take the Money and Run'. Hard to believe! Learn more here.

Shout-out to Luke & Jake

We love seeing kiddos like Luke and Jake bringing their Museum Access Coloring Books on the road. No need to limit creativity to the kitchen table right?

Thanks for sharing Ryan! We remember that first blockbuster exhibit when it crisscrossed America. Your other fave is consistently in the U.S. top ten museums to visit. You've got good taste!

Autumn in the Wild

There's nothing like Mother Nature's brilliant foliage display in the Fall. The Adirondacks are the perfect place to go and the Wild Center Nature Museum is a great location for peak viewing. Spend the day lost in Mother Nature then return for the glorious winter views as far as the eye can see.

Did you know that author Mark Twain took his name from the call of the Mississippi River boatmen? 'Mark Twain' meant that the water was 2 fathoms deep. Learn more about this American literary giant in our visit to the Mark Twain Museum in Season 4. Stay tuned!

Behind-the-Scenes:

La Brea Tar Pits Museum, LA

“Ever wonder what my vantage point is when we are shooting our series? Well, many times this is exactly what I am seeing when I am not actually talking with museum experts across the country. Notice the black tape on the ground marking where to stop when I walk onto camera. It may all look weird but thankfully, videographer Gerald Emerick knew what he was doing. Lucky for me!”
